

RESTORING SYSTEM

It is almost impossible to live today and not use a computer. I have used computers for so long that they are now an integrated part of the very process I use to study God's Word when preparing classes and sermons. I use a Hebrew-Greek program that allows me to read God's Word in the original languages, and this program has powerful research tools that allows me to research in seconds what normally took days and even months in the time period B.C. (Before Computers).

When things are going well with the computers in my life, I am happy and productive. But, when things are problematic with a computer, then my frustration and stress levels quickly rise. As I mentioned before, computers are an integrated part of my every thought process in studying God's Word and preparing lessons.

There is one feature of Windows 10 I really like is called the "system restore" feature. How does it work? Suppose you suffer a system crash on your computer this Thursday. You're not a computer expert, and you don't know how to recover the last two weeks of financial information you entered Wednesday or your daughter's history report she started writing Monday.

All you have to do with Windows 10 is select "system restore" and specify the date to which you want your machine reset. Voila! Problem solved. All the things you somehow messed up are put back in their configuration as of that earlier day.

Wouldn't you like to market that feature for human lives? Think there'd be any call for it? Think you could supply it fast enough to keep up with the demand?

Charles would "system restore" to the day before he began the affair. Sue would go back to the day before she tampered with payroll data. Tom would choose the day before the big fight that caused his son to run away from home. Maybe you can remember the day when things crashed for you — and you'd give anything you own to restore things to the way they were just one day before it.

In him (Jesus) we have redemption through his blood,
the forgiveness of our trespasses,
according to the riches of his grace,
which he lavished upon us,
in all wisdom and insight.
Ephesians 1:7-8 ESV

What Windows 10 calls "system restore" is called forgiveness in your Bible. Check it out. And upgrades are always free.

Grace & Peace
Derek
